

Quinte Field Naturalist Speaker Presentation

"Limestone lands of the Quinte region" with Robert Ormston

Limestone rocks and landforms are a familiar sight to those who know the Quinte region. What may seem like an ordinary rock, has in fact dramatically shaped the biodiversity of the region. This talk will explore how limestone surface geology shapes landscapes through its specific topography, chemistry, and hydrology, to create a variety of weird and wonderful ecosystems...some which are rarely found outside the Quinte region.
